ALITE™

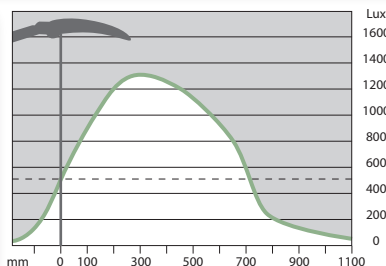

This well crafted and designed ALITE™ asymmetrical, compact fluorescent desk lamp offers the utmost in modern and advanced desk lighting. Due to its engineered lamp shade in hollowed out aluminum and with the angled reflector it spreads the light in asymmetrical fashion so as to avoid glares, reflections or shadows. The ALITE™ is equipped with a 26 watt compact fluorescent tube to give optimum amount of light on the dedicated work area and at the same time save energy. The compact fluorescent tube is 70% more energy efficient than incandescent lamps. Due to the advanced design of the arm and shade, the ALITE™ is extremely stable and versatile. It provides a very good asymmetric distribution of light so you can adapt the light to your own physical working environment. The ALITE™ provides an even, flicker free and large illuminated area.

The ALITE™ is of aluminum material with surface treatment creating a delicate touch of superior quality.

Recyclable materials could be reused after recirculation processing. The long life span is consistency with the spirit of green design.
